supervise the general administrative functions in the village including pursuant to paragraph 14 of Part II of the Fourth Schedule to the Constitution and ensuring and coordinating the participation of the village unit in governance; further noting that some Counties have set up the said offices in order to further devolve services to the very basic unit of society and improve delivery; recognizing that the aforesaid institutions and their crucial functions are central to the proper devolution of services across the sub-counties and village units in the County; deeply concerned that three years after the realization of the devolved system Nairobi City County is yet to establish the office of village administrator and constitute the Village Councils for reasons best known to the Executive; convinced that this inaction to further devolve functions has played a role in the frustration of Nairobi residents with poor service delivery due to over-centralization of services at City Hall, something which devolution sought to cure; this Assembly urges the County Executive to establish the offices contemplated under Section 52 and 53 of the County Governments Act, 2012, across the City to further enhance service delivery for Nairobi residents.
