THAT, aware that Section 52 of the County Governments Act, 2012 establishes the office of village administrator for each village unit established in a county, while Section 53 of the same Act establishes, for each village unit, a village council whose composition is clearly detailed; noting that the roles of the Village Administrator amongst others is to coordinate, manage and supervise the general administrative functions in the village including pursuant to paragraph 14 of Part II of the Fourth Schedule to the Constitution and ensuring and coordinating the participation of the village unit in governance; further noting that some Counties have set up the said offices in order to further devolve services to the very basic unit of society and improve delivery; recognizing that the aforesaid institutions and their crucial functions are central to the proper devolution of services across the sub-counties and village units in the County; deeply concerned that three years after the realization of the devolved system Nairobi City County is yet to establish the office of village administrator and constitute the Village Councils for reasons best known to the Executive; convinced that this inaction to further devolve functions has played a role in the frustration of Nairobi residents with poor service delivery due to
