MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The purpose of this Bill is to encourage urban agriculture as an activity conducive to food security and well-being of the population, creation of work and economic opportunities and for environmental sustainability of the county.

Agriculture and animal husbandry are county government functions as per the fourth schedule to the Constitution (2010). This is in line with the responsibilities of the state as set out in the Bill of Rights, Article 43(1) (c) of the Constitution on freedom from hunger, and to have adequate food of acceptable quality. The defunct city council, operating under the then Local Government Act, suppressed agricultural activities with the city on the premise that agricultural activities were a nuisance in the city. The trend world over is that urban agriculture is gaining momentum and the county government should not lose the moment to expand the people's economic activities and efforts to feed themselves, thereby contributing to the nation's food supply. Research shows that urban livestock keeping, fish rearing and growing of fresh foods are beneficial to public health (especially child health) and wellbeing. It also shows that small urban backyard farms are efficient in recycling nutrients and contribute to ecological sustainability as does urban agriculture in general through greening, flood control and combating the urban heat island effect.

The Bill seeks to among other things —

- (a) Contribute to food and nutrition security through the support to and development of agriculture in the county by empowering the people and institutions economically by allowing and facilitating agricultural activities;
- (b) Establishment of the county agriculture development fund;
- (c) Promote increased access to agricultural extension and assisting in developing people's capacities in food production, value-addition and employment creation;
- (d) Promotion, support and guidance for the development of urban agriculture
- (e) Regulate access to land and water for use in urban agriculture within the county;
- (f) Protect public health, food safety and the environment by defining environmental standards for urban agriculture within the county; this includes the safe re-use of organic wastes
- (g) Institutionalise administrative procedures to get access to agricultural resources;
- (h) Institutionalise procedure to monitor positive and negative effects of urban agriculture with regard to social, economic and environmental conditions and allocate responsibilities on the respective county institutions in that regard;

- (i) Establish procedure to oversee law enforcement on issues regarding urban agriculture.

The Bill requires the integration of agricultural activities in the physical planning in the county as well as the involvement of the other relevant departments of the county government in the promotion and regulation of agriculture.

In recognition of the multifaceted nature of food production and safety, the Bill proposes the establishment of an advisory board to advise the executive committee member for agriculture on the promotion of and regulation of urban agriculture in the county.

The Bill also proposes the inspectors and extension officers under the supervision of the executive committee member shall manage the promotion and regulation of urban agriculture in the county.

PART I provides for preliminary matters including the definition of terms used in the Bill. The objects of the proposed Bill are also set out.

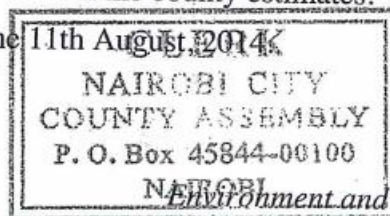

PART II provides for the promotion of agriculture within the county and in this regard under clause 4. It also mandates the county executive committee member to ensure measures are taken to promote sustainable urban agriculture in the county. It also prescribes the various ways in which urban agriculture may be carried out.

PART III provides for the establishment of the Nairobi City County Urban Agriculture Promotion Advisory Board. This Board shall be responsible for advising the county executive committee member generally in the promotion and regulation of agriculture in the county.

PART IV makes provision for miscellaneous matters including the application of the relevant national legislation. It also empowers the executive committee member to make regulations which should include the furtherance of the objectives of the Act as set out in clause 4.

The enactment of the Bill into law shall entail expenditure of public funds to be provided for in the county estimates.

Chairperson, Agriculture,
Environment and Natural Resources Committee.
